

Who's top boss?

A survey asking 1,300 workers which movie characters remind them most of their boss put Michael Douglas' President Andrew Shepherd in "American President" at the number one spot, followed by the wise Obi-Wan Kenobi in "Star Wars." Coming in third was the less favorable Bill Lumbergh from "Office Space," played by a nasal-voiced Gary Cole. Others on the list, compiled by Careerbuilder.com, were Cruella De Vil from "101 Dalmations" and Mike Meyers' Dr. Evil, from "Austin Powers."

Mints wage battle vs. the Duffs

Following the unveiling of Hilary and Haylie Duff's ad campaign with Ice Breakers mints, competing mint company Momiints fired off a press release charging, "Not every company wants bubble-headed celebrity siblings who feign disputes over whether a product is liquid or ice."
