Whether an on-the-go professional, a busy mom, a weekend shopper or a party girl, women live out of their handbags. Charla Krupp, "Today" contributor and SHOP Etc. magazine's executive editor, visited "Today" to offer suggestions for the best handbags, latest tech gadgets, organizers and essential extras, so you can run at full speed without stopping.

Party girls

Girls just want to have fun — and perfect going-out accessories! Check out these:

- Party girls know that everything needs to fit in a small evening clutch. The evening bag from Bisou Bisou has a strap so you can dance all night without worrying about where you left your bag. Comes in five colors.
Bisou Bisou beaded Evening Bag, $19.99; JCPenney, 877-346-3527 for store locations, or jcpenny.com in wine, olive, bronze, black, brown
- Madonna and Kanye West helped spread the word that Motorola's Rocker phone is the first to incorporate Apple's itunes. You can transfer up to 100 songs from your computer's itunes program to the phone through a USB cable and listen on silver ear buds or surround sound speakers. When your phone rings, the music automatically pauses, then restarts from that point when you hang up. It also takes pictures.
Motorola ROKR, $249 with Cingular contract; Cingular stores, or hellomoto.com
- Sally Hansen Lip Compact is the size of a credit card with 10 lip glosses and a mirror. $4.99 at drugstores nationwide
- With single-serve eye shadow cards from Cargo cosmetics, you can peel off the plastic sheet and use your finger to touch up on your eye makeup. A pack of 24 cards will be sold at Sephora mid-October.

Cargo Color Cards, $24/28 cards; Sephora, 877-737-4672, or sephora.com

- Don't forget your mints, party girl. The tiniest liquid-filled mints are Momints.

Momints Pouch Tubes, $0.50; CVS Pharmacy, Walgreens, or momints.com
