Graffiti Art #9:

Despite featuring only two words of English in the entire book ("Graffiti" and "Art"), no red-blooded American (or Yellow Rat Bastard) could scoff at this artistic masterpiece. Perhaps the finest book in this German series. The collection of graffiti is both diverse and captivating. Read now. Tag later.

Keith "Beef 'Gully' Curry" Murray:

Articulate...with a keen sense of word placement and has never misused the word Supercalifragilis-ticexpialidocious and absolutely never mispronounced Pneumonoultramicroscopicsilicovolcanoconiosis. Able to produce cute, cuddly and smiley offspring.

Momints:

Concise packaged, Momints are a smoothly textured, liquid-filled breath mint sure to make your tongue tingle and guarantee that she forgets the garlic bread you downed at lunch. A single mint, smaller than a beebee pellet, will clear your sinuses in, well, moments. www.momints.net or your local 7 Eleven store.

D-Finer Precise Shaper:

Norelco cannot be stopped. The most recent bomb dropped by these gully bastards is the D-Finer Precise Shaper. With dual defining technology, that of course being a hi definition trimmer and a mini foil, you'll have little trouble going all out with facial hair designs or keeping smooth edges if you keep it simple with a beard. Ahhhh, the styling possibilities are unlimited.

Killah:

Not only will these boots by Killah strike the fear of the lord in anyone you threaten to kick, they also look dope. The stylish shit kickers will keep you warm and turn heads with cold weather just around the corner. Note: These are neither intended for soccer nor the elderly.

Mattel – Scene It?:

Mattel, the toy manufacturing mogul, has launched the first DVD-based board game. Scene It? turns the traditional board game into a tricked out 3-D multimedia match of memory, logic and pop culture knowledge. Marketed towards twenty-somethings, Scene It? really does have a CLUE? ,and makes you Sorry you ever played Chutes and Ladders.

Nokia 3300:

Merging a traditional cell phone with a two-way pager look, Nokia drops its 3300 model. Offering a full keypad and a stunning interface is sure to turn heads and keep yours boppin' with its high-quality sound AM/FM radio and MP3 player... plays. Though not as easy to navigate as some of Nokia's earlier models, users still have the benefits from the same plethora of extra features including games, calendars, alarms, and to-do lists.

Fira makeup cell phones:

No, it's not another gadget, just the funniest and tackiest make-up kit on the block. Fool your friends and be a thirteen year-old girl again with Fira's cell phone make-up jammy jam. With four eye shadows, four lip glosses, two applicator brushes, and unlimited battery life, being a seventh grader never felt so good.
